something peculiarly tragic in this case, and we doubt whether the house would have been occupied had it stood a hundred years.

ENGLISH OPERA.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg is making extensive preparations for a brilliant season of English Opera. Mr. C. D. Hess, manager of the troupe has succeeded in securing the services of William Castle tenor, and S. C. Campbell baritone, the well known "operatic twins" who have not sung in this country since they went off with the Parepa Rosa troupe. Both of these gentleman have been singing abroad, in England and in Egypt, with flattering success, and their return to this country cannot fail to meet with a cordial welcome, for they are great favorites here. Messrs. Carleton and Mass, the young Englishmen who were so well received last year, and Mrs. Zelda Seguin have been re engaged, these with Miss Kellogg as the prima donna will make the company the strongest we have ever had in English Opera in this country. Negotiations are pending with other artists whose names will soon be announced, so what we lose in Italian Opera we will gain in English. Miss Kellogg will bring out Ambrose Thomas's "Mignon" for the first time in English. The libretto of this charming and popular opera has been carefully translated and prepared by Miss Kellogg herself, who assures us that it will lose none of its attractiveness in its English dress. During the season Balfe's posthumous opera of "the Talisman" will be produced with all the recitative as performed at Her Majesty's Theatre, London, where it drew immense crowds, with stalls selling at five guineas each. "The Talisman" is founded on Scott's novel of that name, and the dramatis personæ are Edith Plantagenet, Richard Coeur de Lion, Sir Kenneth, Neclabanus, Sir Thomas de Vaux, Berengaria, Emir Sheerkof, Philip of France and the Duke of Austria. The Opera is decidedly picturesque, and the music is thoroughly Balfian, being both tender and graceful, and rollicking and spirited. Miss Kellogg is at present at her beautiful home, "Clarehurst," at Cold Spring, on the Hudson, where she is working with might and main preparatory to producing next season all the Operas in her repertoire, on a scale equal to the best efforts of the Italian Opera Stage. Among the operas to be produced, besides those already mentioned are "Crispino," and a new version of Fra Diavola, and many of the old favorites. A new chorus has been organized expressly for the coming season. It has long been a pet project with Miss Kellogg to assist American talent, and she now has the opportunity she desired. Her new chorus is composed of the best voices out of some two hundred who answered certain advertisements, and they have been working hard for the past two weeks, and will continue to study until the final organization of the troupe in the Fall. The voices are all young and fresh, and consist of native talent desirous to become perfected in the art of music. Here is a splendid chance for young singers, and Miss Kellogg's plan promises to benefit the public as well as the singers, for we will thereby be relieved from the sight of that same old chorus that has met our gaze for the last twenty years, every time the curtain has risen upon an English opera company.

Miss Kellogg is in fact revising all the librettos to be used by her Company, and Mr. Hess in New York busily engaged with chorus and orchestra. The English opera season will open in Chicago about the 5th of October, and the troupe will not reach New York before the latter part of January when it will sing at the Academy of Music for a few weeks.

After Dinner.

A gentleman in Albany telegraphed to a young lady in New York that he had secured her marriage trousseau. The telegram as delivered to the young lady stated that the gentleman had secured her marriage trousers.

Western drinkers put some rock sugar into a bottle, rub the neck with camphor, and then go and coax innocent druggists into filling it with whiskey, saying, "My wife's got an awful headache and wants a little camfire."

Two Milesians were standing at the Fairmount Water Works, watching the big wheels splashing the water, when one of them remarked, "Mike isn't this a quare country, where they have to grind their water before they can use it?"

A Quaker being asked his opinion of phrenology, replied, indignantly, "Friend, there can be no good in a science that compels a man to take off his hat!"

A suspicious wife, on being asked wher her husband was, replied that she was very much afraid he was Missing.

A soporific Kansas paper heads a paragraph: "Read this, if you wish to sleep sound."

"I am indeed very much afraid of lightning," said a pretty lady. "And well you may be," replied a despairing lover, "when your heart is made of steel."

A transcendental preacher took for his text, "Feed my lambs." As he came out of the church a plain old farmer said to him, "That was a very good text; but you placed the hay so high in the rack that the lambs couldn't reach it, nor the old sheep either."

"Did you execute this instrument without fear or compulsion from your husband?" blandly asked the judge. "Fear! compulsion! He compel me! You don't know me, judge."

"I'm glad that this coffee don't owe me anything," said Brown, a boarder, at the breakfast table. "Why?" said Smith. "Because I don't believe it would ever settle."

"Sam, why don't you talk to your master, and tell him to lay up treasures in Heaven!" "What's de use of him laying up treasures up dar? He never see um again."

When is iron the most ironical? When it's a railing.

When are gloves unsaleable? When they are kept on hand.

Why is an egg like a colt? Because it is not fit to use until it is broke.

Why is a butcher like a loafer? Because he deals in tender lines (loins.)

Why is a lean monarch like a man in meditation? Because he is a thin king (thinking.)
